New CEO announced

The Mayor of Alice Springs and Councillors would like to announce the successful appointment of Robert Jennings to the role of CEO at the Alice Springs Town Council.

“After an extensive recruitment process, we are pleased to announce that Robert will be joining the Alice Springs Town Council team.

“Robert has worked in both private and public sectors, has more than 10 years of experience in local government; including his most recent role as CEO at Katherine Town Council giving him an appreciation for Territory communities” said Mayor Ryan.

With a strong background in economics, architecture, urban design and development, Robert is looking forward to embracing his new role. “I’m keen to be working with the Council team to continue to deliver a high standard of municipal services whilst also working with the broader Alice Springs community towards driving Council projects and initiatives.”

Mayor Ryan said “I also take this opportunity to extend our gratitude to retiring CEO Rex Mooney, who has dedicated 16 years of service to the Alice Springs community.”

Robert will commence in the role from late August 2019.
